THE SCHOOL OF LAW

GENERAL STATEMENT

History.—The law school, which developed into the School of Law of the University, was founded in 1843 at Chapel Hill as a private school by William H. Battle, then a judge of the Superior Court, later a justice of the Supreme Court of the state. In 1845 Judge Battle was made professor of law in the University, and it was provided that the degree of Bachelor of Laws should be conferred on those completing the prescribed two-year course. From the records of the University, however, it seems that few degrees were actually conferred. For a long time the school maintained a certain independence of the University. The professor of law received no salary, though he enjoyed the fees from his classes, and the students were not entirely subject to the discipline of the University.

This was the position of the school from its formation until 1899, a period which covered the professorship of Judge Battle, who retired in 1879; two years when the law classes were conducted by Hon. Kemp P. Battle, then President of the University; and the professorship of Dr. John Manning, elected 1881, died 1899. In 1899 the school was completely incorporated into the University, with the late Judge James C. MacRae, previously a justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, as the first dean of the Law School.

Approved by the American Bar Association.—The American Bar Association has fixed certain standards which, in its opinion, should be observed by law schools in the preparation of applicants for admission to the practice of law, and the schools conforming to the standards are classed as “approved law schools.” Such schools must require at least two years of college study for entrance, followed by a three-year course for full-time and a longer course for part-time students, and must have a sufficient number of teachers devoting their entire time to the school and an adequate library for the use of its students.

The University of North Carolina Law School has complied with these requirements and is one of sixty-five schools classed as "approved law schools."

Member of the Association of American Law Schools.—The Law School is a member of the Association of American Law Schools, an association composed of sixty-two of the leading law schools in the United States and including the law schools of such universities as Harvard, Yale, Cornell, and Chicago. The object of this association is to improve legal education in America, and member schools are required to maintain certain high standards relating to entrance requirements, faculty, library, and curriculum.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Regular Students

The matter of admission to the School of Law, as to all the other schools and colleges of the University, is arranged through the Registrar of the University.

The Registrar passes upon all applications for admission and all inquiries as to eligibility to enter should be addressed to him. Those who intend to enter must furnish to the Registrar (a) a certificate of successful vaccination against smallpox, and (b) a certificate showing the completion of a four years' high school course of fifteen units and the completion of not less than two years of college work, which must be approved by the Registrar. These certificates may be presented to the Registrar in person on registration day, but it is preferable to submit them to him in advance so as to ascertain whether or not they are acceptable.

For students entering the School of Law during the session of 1928-1929 no requirement is made as to the particular courses or subjects studied during the two years of college work, but those preparing to enter later thereafter with two years of college work must, if they are taking their college work in the University of North Carolina, (1) take the "two-year pre-law course," which is strongly recommended by the law faculty as the course best adapted for those devoting only two years to college work, or (2) take the first two years of regular work counting toward a degree in the College of Liberal Arts, the School of Commerce, or the School of Education in this university or in some other standard college or university.

The two-year pre-law course is as follows :

FIRST YEAR	SECOND YEAR
English 1, or 1a and 1	Two courses of English 3, 4, 5, or 21 in the discretion of the dean of the College
Mathematics 1-2
History 1-2	Government 1, and either 2, 35, or 47
Two courses in a natural science	Economics 1-2
*Two courses in a foreign language (French, Latin, German or Spanish)	History 3-4 (English) or 7-8 (Ameri- can) or Psychology 1-2
	Another course in the same foreign language

Special Students

A limited number of special students, not candidates for a degree, with less than the required two years of academic training may be admitted. They must be at least twenty-three years of age and must furnish evidence to satisfy the law faculty that their experience and training have specially equipped them to engage successfully in the study of law despite the lack of the required college credits. The number of such special students admitted each year may not exceed ten per cent of the average number of students admitted by the school as beginning regular law students during the two preceding years.

Admission to Advanced Standing

A student from another school of law, in which the requirements for admission are at least as high as in this school, may be admitted to advanced standing for the degree of LL.B. As a rule no more than one year's work will be so credited without residence, but with the consent of the law faculty two years' work may be credited in exceptional cases, provided the last year of work for the law degree is done in residence. A student seeking admission to advanced standing must present satisfactory evidence that the work taken in another school is substantially equivalent to that given in the corresponding year here, both in the character of the work covered and in the amount of time devoted to each subject.

* The total requirement in foreign language is three courses of collegiate grade based upon at least two units completed in high school or the equivalent in the elementary courses taken here.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred upon a regular student who has spent in resident study in the law school a period of at least three academic years, and passed satisfactory examinations on all required subjects and enough elective subjects to make up an aggregate of eighty-four semester hours. Two long sessions and three summer sessions of at least ten weeks each are regarded as a compliance with the residence requirement.

† This includes the gymnasium fee, the library fee, the fee for attendance of the university physician, and the fee for debates.

The Degree of J.D.

The degree of Doctor of Law (J.D.) will be conferred upon students who comply with all the following conditions:

3. Obtain an average grade of B on all required subjects and enough elective subjects to make up an aggregate of eighty-four semester hours.

The degree with honors was conferred in 1928 upon Mr. Charles Raper Jonas.

The Degrees of A.B. and LL.B.

The University offers a combined course in the College of Liberal Arts and in the Law School by completing which students may receive the two degrees of A.B. and LL.B. in six years instead of the seven years required for the two degrees in the regular course.

EXAMINATIONS AND GRADES

EXAMINATIONS. Preliminary hour-examinations will be held in each course in November; also at the end of the first semester hour-examinations will be given in all courses running through the year. Individual research assignments may be substituted for preliminary examinations. Final examinations are held at the end of the first semester in the subjects then completed, and at the close of the year in all other subjects.

GRADES. The grading of students will be indicated by the letters A, B, C, D, and F, representing respectively excellent, good, satisfactory, fair, and failed. A student receiving the grade of F (failed) in any subject will be required to repeat the course.

Full credit may not be secured for more than ten semester hours of D grade work in one long session, nor for D grade work in more than one-half the hours taken in a summer session. D grade work in excess of these amounts will be given only one-half the usual credits.

ELIMINATION OF STUDENTS

A student must obtain a grade of D or better in at least two-thirds of the total number of semester hours for which he registers, and any student who fails to do so shall thereby automatically be excluded from further work in the School. Likewise, the law faculty may drop from the School at any time any student who in their judgment is not making sufficient progress to warrant his continuing in the School.

† The total requirement in modern language is three courses of collegiate grade based upon 2 units completed in high school or the equivalent in the elementary courses taken here.

§ English 22 may be substituted on recommendation of the English Department.

Any instructor, with the concurrence of the dean, may drop a student from a course at any time for unsatisfactory work, poor attendance, or other good cause.

NUMBER OF HOURS OF WORK REQUIRED AND PERMITTED

The normal amount of work is fourteen or fifteen class hours per week. Not more than sixteen hours of law work may be taken nor, if academic work is being taken at the same time, may more than twelve hours of law be taken with one academic course.

No student taking fewer than ten hours weekly will be considered as studying law within the rule of the Supreme Court which requires of applicants for license to practise in North Carolina two years' study of law as a necessary preliminary.

DIVISION OF ACADEMIC YEAR: DATES

Work in the School is divided into two semesters instead of into three quarters. The first semester begins at the same time as the fall quarter of the College of Liberal Arts, and ends on the last Saturday in January. The second semester begins on Monday after the last Saturday in January and ends at the same time as the third quarter of the College of Liberal Arts.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

In its teaching the School of Law has adopted the method used in the leading schools in this country. This is called the "case-method" because the starting-point is the statement in class by the students of the results of their independent analysis of actual decisions. These are selected so as to reveal the fundamental principles of a given subject, as they have been developed in the settlement of actual human controversies. The cases thus stated are the basis for an active discussion by the class, under the guidance of the instructor, of the practical applications of the doctrines so revealed. This is supplemented by assigned readings in the state and federal statutes, and in standard textbooks and periodicals. During the fifty years during which this method has gradually won acceptance in practically all the standard schools, experience has shown that it gives training in the analysis of the actual problems that are presented to a lawyer and promotes accuracy of thought, readiness of statement, and a vivid and retentive perception of legal principles more completely than the methods previously in vogue in which the student played the passive part of accepting the law as handed down in lectures.

STUDENTS FROM OTHER STATES

While greater emphasis is placed upon North Carolina decisions and statutes than those of any other states, the legal doctrines are studied as part of the Anglo-American common law system and the case-books used are selections of cases taken from all the common law jurisdictions. Students from other states are encouraged to investigate the decisions and statutes of their own states in regard to the questions discussed, and the law library provides the materials necessary for such investigation. The law course as a whole is designed to prepare the student in the fundamentals of the common law in such a manner as to fit him for practice in any state.

AIM OF THE SCHOOL

The aim of the school is to develop competent lawyers and not merely to prepare students for the bar examination. The course extends over three years and subjects are offered in what seems the most advantageous sequence. Students are required to follow the order of the curriculum and one who stops before completing it will not have a comprehensive or adequate legal education. While no particular attention is paid to preparing men for the bar examination, our students have been successful in passing it. Indeed, no one graduating from the School has failed, so far as those now administering the School are aware, to pass the bar examination of this state on his first attempt.

SUBJECTS OF INSTRUCTION

All subjects in the first year are prescribed. Those in the second and third year are elective, but second-year students may not elect third-year subjects except by permission of the dean.

READING COURSE

In addition to the regular classwork and collateral reading, it is the aim of the School to develop the habit among the students of frequent informal conferences with faculty members over the difficulties and problems which are encountered in their studies. It is believed that this personal contact between student and teacher, which is no longer possible in the larger schools, is of inestimable value and will foster some of the professional spirit that was engendered by the former association between lawyer and student in the days when legal instruction was secured in law offices. To this end a reading course has been introduced for first-year students. This course will consist solely of the reading of books designed to acquaint the student at the outset with some of the history, general ideas, outstanding personalities and rich literature of the law. The students will be divided into small groups, each of which will be assigned to a different professor as adviser, with whom individual conferences on the readings will be held. The books selected for 1928-29 are :

- (1) Morgan: Introduction to the Study of Law.
- (2) Potter: Introduction to English Legal History.
- (3) Legal Biography: Volume I, Select Essays in Anglo-American Legal History, "The Five Ages," p. 625, and "An American Law Student," p. 837; Great American Lawyers, any three of the following biographies, Wirt, Ellsworth, Choate, Story, Mason, Prentiss, Jeremiah Black, and Luther Martin; History of North Carolina Supreme Court, 177 N. C. 617.
- (4) Pound: The Spirit of the Common Law.
- (5) Pollock: A First Book of Jurisprudence.
- (6) Hohfeld: Fundamental Legal Conceptions (introduction and first two essays).
- (7) Cardozo: The Nature of the Judicial Process.
- (8) Holmes: Collected Legal Papers.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

The summer school in law offers opportunity for the students to supplement the work of the long session by taking additional courses, some of which are not given in the long session, or to shorten the period of study by completing the work for the law degree in two long sessions and three summer sessions. It has been the practice to secure distinguished judges and law teachers from other institutions as visiting professors in the summer school. Among these have been Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy and Associate Justices George W. Connor and W. J. Brogden of the Supreme Court of North Carolina; Professor A. L. Green, Yale University; Dean Young B. Smith, Columbia University; Dean J. L. Parks, University of Missouri; and Professors Edmund M. Morgan, Harvard University, and Wesley A. Sturges, Yale University.

A bulletin announcing the courses to be given in the summer of 1929 will be issued early in that year.

THE LAW BUILDING

The Law School occupies Manning Hall, named for the late Dr. John Manning, formerly a distinguished professor in the School. The building was erected in 1923, and besides being modern and commodious, is particularly notable for beauty of design.

THE LAW LIBRARY

The library is an extensive one of about 18,000 volumes. It includes the reports of the courts of last resort of all the states, either in official volumes or the National Reporter System, The United States Supreme Court Reports, The Federal Reporter, The New York Supplement, Illinois Appellate Reports, The English Reports Reprint, The Law Reports (English), the local Federal and English Statutes, the codified laws of each state in the union, and a comprehensive selection of digests, encyclopedias, textbooks, and law periodicals. The law library was substantially augmented during the past year by a gift from a former student of the School of $10,000 called the Lucius Polk McGehee Memorial Fund and used for the purchase of books for the law library.

THE NORTH CAROLINA LAW REVIEW

The North Carolina Law Review, issued quarterly, is published by the Law School. It is devoted to the discussion of general and local legal problems and new cases, especially those of interest to North Carolina lawyers. The notes on recent cases are prepared by the student editors, in consultation with faculty advisers. Selection of the student editors is made by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, and membership on the editorial board is the highest scholastic honor attainable by a law student before the graduating year.

THE LAW CLUBS AND LAW SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Law School Association is a voluntary association of students which, under the guidance of a faculty member—Professor Coates—promotes the activities of the law clubs, and endeavors to bring the students and the faculty of the Law School into a coöperating relationship with the members of the bench and bar. Law clubs are organized in each class and their members argue law questions upon agreed statements of fact before members of the faculty. From the winners in these arguments are selected those who will participate in the Final Argument. This is held before a court consisting of distinguished lawyers and judges. In 1928 the court consisted of Associate Justices W. J. Adams and W. J. Brogden of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, and Messrs. A. L. Brooks, of Greensboro, J. S. Manning, of Raleigh, and John A. MacRae, of Charlotte.

TRIAL AND OFFICE PRACTICE

The course in trial and office practice is believed to be organized on lines which will make for the highest practical value to the student. During the past year, Mr. C. L. Shuping of Greensboro generously gave the sum necessary to install in Manning Hall a complete trial court room, and similar assistance by Mr. W. M. Hendren of Winston-Salem and others made possible the installation of a large practice office, with necessary desks and files for the use of a class. In these quarters the practice class will carry on trial and office work. The office work consists chiefly in the drafting of contracts, deeds, leases, mortgages, wills, and corporation and partnership documents, the preparation and examination of abstracts of title, and the preparation of the forms used in judicial proceedings. This will be done under the guidance of the various members of the faculty teaching the respective substantive law subjects involved, with the active coöperation of leading members of the bar, who will furnish problems arising in their practice and will explain the exact ways in which they were met. The trial work will be introduced by lectures by Judge John J. Parker of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals upon judicial organization and procedure, with emphasis upon the differences between state and federal practice, and by lectures by Mr. L. P. McLendon of Durham on the preparation of a case for trial. This will be followed by the trial of cases. Stenographic reports of actual trials in state and federal courts will be used as laboratory material. Plaintiff's testimony will be given to a plaintiff's counsel and defendant's testimony to a defendant's counsel, who will prepare their respective pleadings. Witnesses taken from the class will read the record and prepare to give evidence based upon the actual testimony. Counsel will prepare pleadings without having seen the actual pleadings and will try the case before a student jury, and a lawyer who participated in the court trial will preside and will thereafter criticize the pleadings, trial tactics, and arguments of the counsel on the law and facts. It is believed this will impart in a vivid way some knowledge of the art, as well as the law, of trials.
